THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, SEATON GALES. } Editors.

Monday, June 25, 1866.

FOR GOVERNOR,

JONATHAN WORTH,

OF RANDOLPH.

Important Message of the President.

If any evidence were wanting of the continued and settled purpose of the President to adhere to his policy, in opposition to the doctrines and purposes of the Radicals, his brief message to the Congress, found under our telegraphic head, will remove all doubt.

It will be recollected, that at one period during the session of the State Convention, the impression was sought to be made upon its members, that the President had backed down from his high position, and intimated a readiness to enter into a compromise with the Radicals upon the Howard amendment. We denied the insinuation at the time, and maintained the position, that such a course, on the part of the President, would be an abandonment of his policy. It will be seen that his message most emphatically sustains our position.

But he goes farther, and in the clearest and most positive manner declares that all the Southern States, except Texas, "have been entirely restored to all their functions as States, in conformity with the law of the land, and have appeared at the National Capitol by their Senators and Representatives, who have applied for and have been refused admission to the vacant seats."

We have time and again shown this to be the position of the President—that the action of the Convention, at its first session, he had accepted as a full compliance with the obligations of the State in order to full restoration—that in fact the work of the Convention was complete, before it re-assembled, and that, by consequence, its powers had expired, because the object of its appointment had been effected. This has in various forms been denied, and the position has been assumed that there yet remained other concessions and humiliations to be made in order to reconciliation.

Henceforth, the course of the President cannot be longer a matter of doubt, and it behooves every man, who loves the old Union and who desires reconciliation and peace, to sustain him.

Lieutenant Governor.

A correspondent of the Greensboro' Patriot, signed "Yadkin," seems to take it for granted that the Convention will adopt finally the amendment to the Constitution, establishing the office of Lieutenant Governor, and that the people will ratify the Constitution. We think the Convention acted wisely in refusing to make it a salaried office, and confining the pay of Lieutenant Governor to the pay of Speaker of the Senate, until called upon to perform the duties of Governor. The expectations of "Yadkin" have been met, in the final adoption of the Constitution, creating the office.

The importance of the office, and the necessity that it should be filled by a competent gentleman to fill both the position of Speaker of the Senate and that of Governor, are not over-stated by the correspondent. He also names several gentlemen qualified for the position, which list might be greatly enlarged, but finally recommends Col. Ferebee, of Camden. "Yadkin" says:

"There are a number of gentlemen in the State whose talents and worth would reflect honor on the office—among them I will mention the Hon. R. C. Puryear, of Yadkin county; Hon. Thomas Settle, of Rockingham county; Hon Jesse G. Shepherd, of Cumberland county; Hon. John A. Gilmer, of Guilford county; and numbers of other suitable men might be named. But as it appears to be the purpose and desire of the people to have no other candidate for Governor but Jonathan Worth, and as he is a Western man, it seems to me to be proper to take an Eastern man for Lieut. Governor. And my attention has been called to Col. Dennis D. Ferebee, of Camden county, as possessing all the qualifications for the office of Lieut. Governor. He is a man of fine talent, much experience in public affairs, of tried patriotism, and has always proved himself to be a high-minded, liberal statesman. The West could support him with a hearty good will; for, as a Legislator, he has ever shown a disposition to act liberally with the West."

We would suggest to Gov. Worth's friends, that it would be as unwise, as it would be unsafe, to act upon the idea, that there will be no opposition to Gov. Worth. We believe with "Yadkin," that it is "the purpose and desire of the people to have no other candidate for Governor but Jonathan Worth," but we are confident, if the radical elements in the State can be brought to coalesce, and no stone will be left unturned to effect this, there will be opposition to Gov. Worth.

We endorse, without qualification, what "Yadkin" says, in regard to the fitness of Col. Ferebee for the office of Lieut. Governor.

Report of the Minority.

We hope, at an early day, to be able to publish the admirable and convincing report of the Minority of the Reconstruction committee, which is given in the Northern papers. It is from the pen of the Hon. Reverdy Johnson, and bears the impress of his master-intellect.

The National Intelligencer says of it:

"It is an unanswerable view of the constitutional status of the Southern States, and must produce an impression on all intelligent and dispassionate minds. We trust it may have an extensive circulation, as we believe it is calculated to do much good.

"We confess we have read the minority report with great pleasure. We breathe freer under it. We feel that we are still living under a form of government limited by a constitution which no party has a right to violate, and which, in the long run, they cannot violate without just retribution from an indignant people."

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, has called Napoleon "a puppet Emperor," and the report of Napoleon's abdication is looked for by the next steamer.

The Reconstruction Amendment.

The following striking article, which we extract from a late number of the New York Herald, fully sustains the position which we have taken, that, even were every Southern State to ratify the proposed Reconstruction amendment to-morrow, they would be no nearer representation than they are to-day. The enabling act, as it is called, is still to come; and there is not only no guaranty in this bill that the States concerned will ever be restored, but, even if there were, there is no warranty that such an act would be passed. It was confidently believed that, after the adoption of the former amendment inhibiting slavery, and the repeal of the ordinances of secession, the barrier to admission would have been removed. Such assurances, if not positively, were impliedly, given by the majority in Congress, and men who have been already guilty of the grossest violation of faith will not scruple to repeat their perfidy.

We re-iterate, therefore, that even could the States of the South so far debase and degrade themselves, and so betray the President, as voluntarily to accept this Reconstruction amendment, they will have no sort of assurance that their self prostitution will be followed by a concession of their rights under the Constitution.—Other humiliations will be exacted,—none of which will avail until after another Presidential election, so far as the present Radical Congress can effect our exclusion until that time.

But to the article:

From the New York Herald.

Now to the question: About what time may we expect Tennessee, for instance, to be reinstated in Congress under this enabling act? The amendment in question must first be ratified by three-fourths of the States, including Tennessee; and the State Legislature must then revise all its local laws in conformity with this aforesaid amendment, excluding rebels from office, among other things, subject to absolution, by a two thirds vote of Congress, and putting whites and blacks upon a footing of perfect equality under the State authority, &c. This is a process of purification as by fire and water, which will not be finished this side the coming Presidential election. The object of the bill is evidently a job of work which will keep out of Congress and our Federal elections all the now excluded States until after the settlement of the question of the next Presidency, and the Congress to be elected at the same time. This point secured, the admission of the excluded States may be delayed and put off for two or three, or ten or twenty, years longer, according to the convenience of the dominant party.

There is no guaranty in this bill that the States directly concerned will ever be restored, under its operation, to their full political rights. It is a device of the party in power to retain its power by the continued exclusion from the Government of the States which might turn the scale. But this thing must come to an end some day, or the Government itself will cease to exist as that of a Republic. We cannot undertake the indefinite exclusion and alienation of eleven States of the Union from the national councils without hazarding the gravest consequences. Nor is there any other way of superseding this plan, and the party proposing it, than through the elections for the next Congress; but this remedy is simple enough and may be made effective. Let the people of the North, who desire a practical restoration of the Union without further pretexts and expedients of delay, and who are anxions to see law and order, confidence and industry, commerce and prosperity, restored over the South, take their ground for a new Congress of new men and conservative principles, and the game is in their hands. Republican candidates for Governor may be worthy patriots and popular men. Republican constitutional amendments and platforms may be all well enough in their way; but these things should not divert the public attention from the main question—the election of the coming fall for the next Congress.

The real issue, we say, covered over as it may be with disguises, will still continue the same—the indefinite exclusion or speedy restoration to a voice in the Government of the eleven Southern States.

Where is San Salvador?

Many persons, having enquired of us the whereabouts of this country, we subjoin, for the information of the curious, the following description from one of the Geographical Dictionaries:

"San Salvador, a republic of Central America, bounded North and Northeast by Honduras; Northwest by Guatemala, from which it is separated by the Rio Paza; East by Nicaragua; Southeast by the Bay of Conchaqua or Fonseca and South by the Pacific Ocean. Area about 7500 square miles. For administrative purposes the State is divided into four districts, called from their chief towns, San Miguel, San Vicente, San Salvador and Santa Anna or Lonsonate. The Republic of San Salvador is among the most advanced in civilization and culture and its population more peaceable, had long the reputation of being the most industrious in Central America, and the State in proportion to its size is still the most densely peopled; population 280,000.

San Salvador, a city of Central America, Capital of the Federal District of that confederation, before its dissolution, is situated on a small stream which flows into the Pacific Ocean, 103 miles S. E. of Guatemala, lat. 13 degrees 44 min. long. 89 deg. 8 min. W. It stands between wooded heights, in a well-watered vale several thousand feet above the Pacific, and about three miles S. E. of the volcano of San Salvador. Seen from the town, this fire-mountain forms a most beautiful cone with a gently sloping summit crowned to the highest peak with thick forests. The crater is perfectly well preserved, more than half a league in circumference, and partially filled with water. It rises about 1000 feet above the table-land on which it stands. The other hills, both those which belong to the volcanic ranges and those of the semi-circle above mentioned, rise not more than 1,500 feet above the level of the plain. The city of San Salvador is said to have been founded in 1823 by Spanish emigrants. It has, at different periods, greatly suffered by earthquakes, especially in the years 1834 and 1859 when it was nearly destroyed. The population a short time before the recent catastrophe amounted to about 18,000 souls. The town was regularly built, contained several churches and convents, and was the seat of a Bishop.—It was a depot for sugar and indigo and had some manufactures of iron wares and cotton goods. The Federal District comprised a radius of 11 miles around the city, and on the side of the Pacific to the port of Libertad, 20 miles distant."

Mr. G. W. Carleton is now running four presses on Dr. J. J. Craven's 'Prison Life of Jefferson Davis," and is far behind the orders for the work, which promises to be the sensation book of the season.

STATE CONVENTION.

ADJOURNED SESSION.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

FRIDAY, June 22.

On motion of Mr. Moore, the Convention took up the ordinance in relation to the Banks of the State, on its third reading.

The ordinance was amended, on motion of Mr Moore, of Wake, by striking out the proviso, and inserting the following: And the said Banks may convert into National currency or stocks so much of their specie as they shall deem advisable: Provided, however, that the funds which may be thus substituted for specie, shall not be used otherwise than the specie itself could be used under their charters, and the assignments made under the late act, enabling the Banks of the State to close their business.

The ordinance as amended passed it third reading, yeas 47, nays 26.

The Convention then proceeded to a further consideration of the special order,—the amended Constitution, on its third reading.

Sundry immaterial amendments were adopted—others were offered, discussed and rejected.

On motion of Mr. Boyden, Article III. was amended by striking out the 18th. section, and inserting as follows: "The Lieutenant Governor, while presiding in the Senate, shall receive the same pay as the speaker of the House of Commons, and he shall receive no other compensation except when he is acting as Governor.

To Section 10 of article IV—which provides for the election of Justices of the Peace by the people—a number of amendments were offered. Pending final action on this section, the Convention adjourned until 9 o'clock A. M. on Saturday.

SATURDAY, June 23.

Mr. Grissom introduced a resolution to cut off debate, by allowing a call of "the previous question." The Convention refused to suspend the rules, to consider the resolution at once.

A resolution from the Finance Committee, to pay Theo. N. Ramsey for his services as Clerk to the Secretary of State, was passed under a suspension of the rules.

An ordinance to authorize an exchange of State bonds for certain causes, was put on its third reading.

After some discussion of its provisions, it was laid on the table, on motion of Mr. Bynum.

THE CONSTITUTION.

The Convention proceeded to consider the amended Constitution.

Sec 10 of article IV, was stricken out, and the following amendment, offered by Mr. McKay, of Harnett, was inserted in its stead:—"Justices of the Peace shall be elected by the qualified voters for the members of the General Assembly, and shall hold their offices for six years. The number shall not exceed two for every thousand of the population according to the census next preceding the election, but the General Assembly may allow three additional Justices for each County seat and incorporated town: Provided, Said incorporated town, being other than that in which the County seat is located, shall contain three hundred inhabitants. The General Assembly shall provide for districting the several Counties, and the Justices shall reside in their respective districts, and there shall be a separate election for each district. The next General Assembly shall enact the necessary laws to carry into effect the provisions of this clause, and at the first County Court after the election, the terms of office of the present Justices shall expire. The General Assembly may provide for the election of Justices to fill vacancies."

Sec. 7 of art. 3. was amended, on motion of Mr. Moore, of Wake, by providing that the Lieut. Governor shall have the same qualifications for office that are required of the Governor, and shall hold office for the same term.

Sec. 2 of art. 5 was amended, on motion of Mr. Caldwell, of Burke, by adding as follows: "No member of the Senate or House of Commons shall be eligible to any office in the gift of the General Assembly during their term of office."

This amendment was discussed by Messrs. Buxton and McCorkle, the former opposing, the latter urging its adoption.

The vote of the Convention was as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Alexander, Allen, Baines, Baker, Barrow, Bingham, Boyden, Bradley, Brickell, Bryan, Burgin, Caldwell, of Burke, Caldwell, of Guilford, Conigland, Dick, Dickey, Faulkner, Ferebee, Gahagan, Garland, Garrett, Godwin, Harris, of Rutherford, Harrison, Haynes, Hodge, Jackson, Johnston, Jones, of Henderson, Jones, of Rowan, Joyce, King, Lash, Logan, McCorkle, McKoy, of Sampson, McDonald, of Chatham, McIvor, N. A. McLean, Nat. McLean, McLaughlin, McRae, Moore, of Wake, Murphy, Norfleet, Patterson, Pearsall, Perkins, Person, Phillips, Rush, Sloan, Smith, of Anson, Smith, of Johnston, Smith, of Wilkes, Starbuck, Stephenson, Stewart, Walkup, Ward, Williams, Wilson, Winburne and Wright.—64.

NAYS.—Messrs. Adams, Bagley, Berry, Buxton, Bynum, Eaton, Faircloth, Gilliam, Grissom, Harris, of Guilford, Henry, Howard, Jarvis, Jones, of Davidson, Joyner, Love, of Jackson, Lyon, Manly, McCauley, McKay, of Harnett, McDonald, of Moore, Moore, of Wake, Odom, Settle, Spencer, of Hyde, Swan, Warren and Winston.—28.

Mr. Caldwell, of Burke, moved to amend sec. 4 art. 5, so as to render ministers of the Gospel capable of holding seats in the General Assembly or Council of State.

Mr. Jones opposed the amendment; Mr. Stewart urged its adoption. It was rejected, after discussion, yeas 20, nays 63.

Mr. Caldwell, of Burke, moved to amend section three by striking out, in the first line, the word "No" before the word "clergyman," and inserting the word "Every." (According to all clergymen the right to hold seats in the General Assembly.)

Messrs. McKoy, of Sampson, and Moore, of Wake, opposed it.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Joyce moved to strike out the section, and insert a substitute, excluding officiating ministers of the Gospel from seats in the General Assembly. The Convention refused to strike out.

[During a temporary absence of the Reporter an animated discussion arose upon an amendment to section 9 of article VIII, which relates to official oaths. Mr. Manly proposed to substitute for this section the oaths prescribed in the Revised Code.

The Reporter will probably furnish an account of this debate in a day or two.]

On motion of Mr. Faulkner, Art. VII. was amended by the addition of the following section:

Sec. 11. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the exemption from sale under execution or other process for debts contracted after the first day of January, 1867, a Homestead in land in favor of every head of a family who may be the owner thereof, except for taxes.

At 4 o'clock, P. M., the Convention took a recess until 5 o'clock.

President Johnson's June journey will probably embrace a general tour of New England.

SUBSTANCE OF THE REMARKS OF MR. RICHARDSON, OF BLADEN,

Delivered in Convention, on Friday, the 22nd instant, in opposition to the Property Qualification of Members of the House of Commons, proposed in Section 8, Article 2, of the Constitution, then under consideration.

MR. PRESIDENT:—When, a few days ago, the question of property qualification for members of the Senate was under the consideration of this body, I said nothing in opposition thereto, although antagonistic in sentiment; because I considered that, by virtue of the compromise agreed upon between the East and West, not long since, upon the matter of the basis of representation, it was understood that the Senate should represent the taxable interests of the people of North Carolina, and the House of Commons that of the people at large. I regard the last four lines of this section, sir, as a departure from the terms of the implied compromise alluded to, and in its ultimate operation upon the interests of our State highly deleterious and prejudicial.

Gentlemen have urged the adoption of this property qualification, as a part of the Constitution, upon the ground, among other reasons, that we should not discard a principle handed down to us by our ancestors, and rendered sacred by so many hallowed associations, and that we ought not, to so great an extent, to change the fundamental rules which heretofore have governed our actions. Sir, I venerate the work which has been handed down to us by our fathers with every sentiment of filial regard, and had my will alone controlled the action of this body, it should have been transmitted to our posterity as we received it, untouched and unprofaned, with every mark of the most honorable conveyance. When, in the early action of this Convention, this time-honored instrument was first brought up for change and amendment, I stood forth to defend it from the ruthless invasion threatening to assail it, and my heart prompted me to exclaim—

In youth it sheltered me, and I'll protect it now."

But nothing availed. The honorable gentleman from Wake, who now raises his hands in holy horror, when others venture to approach it, was the first to lay the axe to the tree, and the vigorous and oft repeated blows which he himself has dealt it, have so shorn it of its fair and ancient proportions as to leave it almost a ruined trunk, lifeless and rootless, and with nothing living in its stead save a few degenerate and sickly shoots at its base. He has been the very "rider of the wind and the ruler of the storm," which has swept down the good old landmarks left to mark and define the boundries of our corporate system, and animated, as he seems to have been, by the same feeling which prompted he may retire to the remotest posterity in the full enjoyment of the like honor.

So much, sir, by way of explanation. And, now, to the more immediate discussion of the question before us. I cannot see, sir, for the life of me, how one hundred acres of land, or landed interest to the value of three hundred dollars, or, indeed, any other like possession, can the better qualify one for a seat in the House of Commons. Gentlemen tell us that it is necessary, in order to identify the representative with the interests of his constituents,—Are not the people themselves the better judges as to the man than we can be? If they select and send one to represent them in the Legislature, how dare we say that they do not know their own interest? The qualification, mental, moral and local, of the candidate is always discussed and considered by the voter, and his endorsement or rejection of him is made upon deliberation, and with a full acquaintance of the man in every essential particular.

What will be the operation of this part of the Constitution, if not altered? It will be, in directly, to re-enact the very thing which Free Suffrage was intended to prohibit. For whereas, heretofore, only those were entitled to vote in the Senatorial election who possessed a certain quantity of land, now only that man may cast a representative vote in the House of Commons who possesses a certain quantity of land. In other words, should three hundred and fifty voters of a county cast their votes for A., who owns no real estate, and three hundred cast theirs for B. who does own the Constitutional quantum, B. and not A. shall be declared elected, and the representative man of a majority of the people shall not represent them! This is, in effect, to disfranchise the poor man, and to build up a landed aristocracy all over the country. Sir, if land is to be the test of merit, why not make the quantity required larger! If one hundred acres will quality a man, two hundred acres will make him twice qualified, and so you may go on in the ratio of increase, to the most complete perfection. If land identifies its owner, in interest, with those among whom he lives, and qualifies him to vote, why not go back to the old system and apply the test to the people themselves, and give every man one vote for each hundred acres he possesses, and so on? By this means, your landed aristocracy will more directly effect their purpose, than they possibly can by this insiduous blow at the poor man.

But, sir, I have another objection to this section. It is its exclusiveness, and the uncertain tenure of the required qualification. Land is mine to-day, but it may be yours to-morrow.—However useful I may be, or may have been, to my State, my usefulness may, in the course of the misfortunes to which all of us are liable, be knocked down, as my land may, to the highest bidder under the Sheriff's hammer. How many young men are there among us, sir, who, in order to acquire an education suitable to the high avocations of life, devote their entire means to its attainment? To open the door to these I would lend a ready assistance, and would knock down every barrier, yea, even this old and moss-covered one over which gentlemen so pathetically linger.

It was a beautiful sentiment of the greatest of all American literary men—"That there are some seeds which, scattered by the way-side, though they fall among rocks and on barren soil, take root, despite the obstacles by which they are surrounded, and struggling against adversity, spring up into sunshine, ere long throwing around their sterile birth-places all the beautics of vegetation." I have seen these seed so scattered, and I have marked with satisfaction the expanding gem, the tender plant, the vigorously growing stem, and the tall tree, and I would let it flourish 'till its top should touch the very heavens in its uprising. I would not fetter the genius of the land, but I would let it loose, as a mettled courser, upon the great race of distinction and honor, and I would sweep from its path whatever would impede its progress.

I am reminded, sir, of the limited time allowed me by the rules of debate, and I will not trespass further in the discussion of the subject.

General Frank P. Blair is fighting a good fight for the President in Missouri. The other night the Radicals tried to break up a Conservative meeting, but the General made his speech, and only one man was killed.

In Vinculis, or The Prisoner of War,

BY A VIRGINIA CONFEDERATE.

It is a fact, and so far a somewhat curious one, that our ex-Confederate soldiers, whether returned prisoners or other, appear to have an invincible reluctance to refer to their experiences even in ordinary social conversation, much more to put them down in black and white. Whether this is referable to the natural unwillingness with which all men turn to look back upon their failures, or upon sufferings in behalf of a cause that has perished; or whether the monotony of camp-life, or of prison-life more especially, left a confused recollection of time and events, to which they are unwilling to trust; or whether they deliberately resolve to bury it all in oblivion in an honest desire to forgive and forget—however all this may be, the fact is certainly to be regretted.

It is the winning side that generally tells the story of a fight: only the victors have the spirits and the animation necessary to narration, and History has groped in the dark about many a long and bloody war for the want of a ray or two of light from the beaten side. The South promises so far to form no exception to this rule. While the Northern press teems with books and illustrations of all sorts—novels, histories, reminiscences, tales, sketches, diaries, we have done little or nothing for our side of the story. And yet there never was a fairer field for the pen of a ready writer. Cut off as we are from the civilized world, our story is known only to ourselves, and it is a unique one. Why the Southerners acted, and how,—what were the motives, means, trials, sufferings, expedients, hopes and fears of those who maintained the unequal strife, these are "fresh fields and pastures new," and can be entered upon by Southerners only.

Therefore we hail with pleasure all such publications as the one before us. It is a step in the right direction. To give the world the truth, to set in its proper light the Southern view of the great war, is henceforth an imperative duty on those who are fitted for the task. Let every man contribute his own share, though only a mite, for the history will be written whether we contribute or not, and it will be through our own most culpable supineness and indifference if we are misrepresented to future ages.

One thing, however, it is to be hoped, that all Southerners who take up pen in a cause so holy, and so just, and so necessary, will bear in mind that it is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, which we want, and want the world to hear, and that to stamp the seal of truth on the very outside, as it were, there should be no calling of names, nor heaping up of epithets or abuse upon our late assailants. Let all appearance of rancor or of exaggeration be studiously avoided. Moderation in expression is always one of the best guarantees for reliability. It is very hard indeed to refrain from applying the title of "Beast" to Gen. Butler, but the use of it does not strengthen our narration. Let us leave all vituperation far behind when we sit down in earnest to tell a story so wild, so sad, so grand. If we may begin our notice of "In Vinculis" with an objection, it is to this fault. There are too many expletives. The facts given are sufficiently eloquent and suggestive, and do not need any such garnish or assistance. Tell us simply what people do, and we can tell ourselves what they are.

On the whole, however, the temper of this little book is admirable. Mr. Keiley is evidently a disciple of the laughing philosopher, and it is more than probable that he owes to this happy temperament, his safe return from his miserable captivity in unbroken health and spirits. His reputation as editor of one of the smartest and sprightliest papers in the South had preceded his book, and we took it up eagerly in expectation of a pleasure; nor were we disappointed. Judging the author by his book, he is a man of cultivation and a gentleman. He writes well and pointedly. There is a fund of good humor and of keen, quiet, satiric observation which are extremely rare gifts, and are accompanied, as in all true humorists, by an inner depth of genuine pathos and sentiment.—We hope Mr. Keiley will go on writing. We venture to predict for him an extended reputation by the time he has worn off certain redundancies of style which give a tinge of affectation quite unworthy of his real abilities.

"In Vinculis" is light and sketchy. We wish it was of heavier metal and that there was more of it. Not that we wish Mr. Keiley a more extended acquaintance with Northern prisons, but we wish there had been more ground taken up at starting. We would like to know something more of the state of Petersburg at the time of the attempted raid by Kautz, something more of that noble band of citizens who died behind those slight earthworks—one hundred and fifty against ten thousand. More too of their return home—how many of them lived to see home—how many were killed in the fight. The book might well have been an "In Memoriam" of that singularly interesting incident of the war.

There is much valuable information in the closing chapters, much in every page to make Southern hearts throb and swell. We regret that our limited space forbids us to make extracts. Yet it is not all bitterness. Northern hearts were not all steeled against Rebels. Mr. Keiley chronicles faithfully both sides with an impartiality that does him honor. Wherever the strictness of military surveillance could be evaded in sending relief to the wretched prisoners, it was done by outsiders—"by hundreds of Northern ladies,"—and this fact we Southerners would do well to remember.

Prisoners on both sides were shamefully treated. This will be the impartial verdict of history. Shamefully! There is no excuse for the rancorous spite and hatred shown to helpless unarmed men who lay wounded, starving and dying by hundreds in the midst of people claiming the highest degree of christian civilization. Both sides are guilty; but by far the heaviest weight of guilt rests upon that side which having food and clothing in abundance, deliberately denied it to their hapless prisoners,—which tho' importunately urged to exchange, refused,—which, while calling on all creation to see how little it was affected by a war so gigantic, refused through the officials of its government to give the captives even the slender comforts forwarded to them from their half-starved friends at home.

Andersonville and Salisbury will forever remain blots upon the history of the Confederacy. The evidence given at the trials shows gross mismanagement, corruption, imbecility on the part of our officials, but it does not show that our prisoners were allowed to starve when we ourselves were in the midst of plenty. The proofs abound, and the conclusion is irresistible, that Southern people were upon the point of starvation themselves, and that the prisoners, as to food, fared no worse than our own troops. The whole burden of the guilt of their starvation lies, and must forever lie, upon that government which refused to exchange them, for fear of adding a few thousand able-bodied men to the rebel army.

Therefore, Oh! ye Northern saints and critics, clear your own skirts before you say a word against us. Southern prisoners died of starvation at Elmira, in the midst of a people rejoicing in abundance,—and in Elmira, one of the healthiest localities in the United States, prisoners died of disease and misery in a larger proportion than at Andersonville!—Wirz has been executed for crimes that had their parallel in the officers of every prison at the North. Gee is now in peril of his life with not a shadow of evidence to show him guilty. Are these courts of inquiry to be confined to the prisons South of Mason and Dixon's line? We trust not. Major Sanger, of Elmira, certainly deserves some share of public attention, to say nothing of scores of others. Let the world hear the story of Point Lookout, Camp Chase, and Fort Johnson, and see there corruption and peculation on a gigantic scale,—see the Northern people cheated and befooled by their own officials,—see brutality intensified by the smallest and most vixenish spite, and all this while their philanthopists were singing psalms in honor of the national humanity and generosity to their prisoners!

Meanwhile, let every body buy "In Vinculis," and thereby encourage the author to write another book.

The Confederate Dead.

We are indebted to a lady friend, in Charlestown, Va., for a list of the Confederate dead buried at Gettysburg, Penn., obtained through the kindness of a gentleman who has visited that town and personally inspected the resting places of our departed heroes. We have heretofore published this list, but are none the less obliged for the kind motive which prompted our friend in sending it.

We take the liberty of making the following extract from her beautiful letter transmitting the list:

"With accommendable liberality, he furnished the means to enable a friend there to have the grave of each one marked, or, rather, re-marked, and neatly dressed up, and accompanied with the grateful assurance that he would watch over them. You can make whatever use you think best of this record, after giving it a place in your valuable paper for the benefit of your own citizens, but I have thought proper to suggest the sending a copy to leading journals in the different States whose gallant men fell in that memorable battle. I will also say, in connection, that our citizens have been for ten days collecting the remains of "our fallen friends" throughout our county, and are busily engaged in committing them to their final resting place, in our beautiful cemetery, ("Edgehill,") near our house, in full sight of my windows, where they will remain, I trust, until the Archangel's trump shall call them forth to a far brighter inheritance than earth has ever offered her most favored creatures. We propose having suitable memorial services on the 27th. of June, at which time you may picture to yourself a mourning column visiting these silent mounds, strewing them with beautiful flowers, and shedding a tear over those precious ones who fell in defence of their loved ones, their homes, their country."

A little fellow of five years fell and cut his upper lip, and not only bore the operation of sewing up the wound with fortitude, but allayed the fears of his fond mamma, that a disfiguring scar would remain, by assuring her that "his moustache would cover it."

CONFEDERATE CONTRACTS.—In a case before the Circuit Court, Judge Marshall ruled that contracts made for money during the war were to be settled at the price of Confederate money at the time the contract was made.

This is in accordance with the act of Assembly relative to such contracts passed at the last session of that body.—Lynchburg News.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—A. Creech is in receipt of another and superb lot of Mozambiques.

See notice of Col. Cantwell's Law and Commercial School, Oxford, N. C.

The 31st. session of the Select English and Classical School at Melville, Alamance, of which Rev. Alex. Wilson and Dr. Jno. Wilson, Jr., are Principals, will commence on the 19th. prox.—This is one of the oldest and best institutions of learning in the State, and enjoys a deservedly high reputation. We commend it to parents and guardians cordially.

The Misses Nash and Miss Kollock will reopen their Select Boarding and Day school, in Hillsboro', on the 2nd. of August next.

Theo. Fentress has fitted up an exceedingly neat and tasty Ice Cream Saloon, on Fayetteville street, in the Fentress building. Persons seeking the luxuries named in his advertisement will find them in their perfection at Mr. F's. Saloon, and will patronize a deserving young man.

WE ARE UNDER many obligations to the Southern Express Co. for repeated favors.

THE CASE OF MAJOR GEE.—A correspondent of the Richmond Examiner, writing from this City, pays the following merited compliment to the energy and ability of the Counsel for the defence in the case of Maj. Gee:

"It has been ably conducted by the defence and prosecution. His counsel were Messrs. D. P. Holland, of Florida, and John Wilder, of Boston, Massachusetts. These gentlemen, with an energy worthy of admiration, have succeeded in tracing out every witness that could possibly prove of any interest to the defence. They did not confine themselves to the Southern States, but introduced witnesses from even Maine and Massachusetts, who testified as to the kind treatment of the prisoners and the many appeals he made in their behalf."

LAWRENCE HORN, a citizen of Anson county, on Friday week, the 15th inst. committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. For sometime Mr. Horn has been noticed to be somewhat unsettled in mind, in consequence of the loss of much property during the war and by the result of the war.

STOKES AND FORSYTHE.—We learn that Dr. W. H. Wheeler is a candidate to represent the District, composed of the counties of Stokes and Forsythe, in the Senate of the next Legislature.

James M. Covington, of Stokes, is also announced, in the Salem Press, for the same office.

BALTIMORE RELIEF FUND.—From a statement of the amounts forwarded by the managers of the Baltimore Relief Fair, and persons to whom they have been sent, at various points in this State, for distribution, we notice the following, in addition to those heretofore published in the Sentinel. The whole amount thus forwarded is twelve thousand dollars, three thousand dollars additional having been forwarded to destitute families.

Salem, $200—E. A. Vogler, E. Belo.

Lexington,—$300—Dr. Wm. R. Holt, B. B. Roberts, Mrs. Dr. Holt.

Huntsville, $200—Hon. R. C. Puryear.

Walnut Cove, $200—Wm. A. Lash.

DRY FRUIT.—The fruit crop in several of the Northern and Middle States is represented to be a failure, in consequence of which dried fruit will command high prices. Our country friends should make a note of this, and prepare to dry all the fruit and berries possible, which will put many a dollar in their pockets.—People's Press.

Gen. Longstreet was recently serenaded in Natchitoches, where he was on business. In his acknowledgment he said:

I have no platform upon which to address you. If I approach Mr. Johnson I am called a traitor; if towards the Radicals I am called a rebel; therefore I must be content to remain on the fence. I thank you, gentlemen, for your sweet music, and you, Mr. Orator, for the distinguished compliment you have paid me, and the names of those noble patriots who have fallen for their country. We will ever cherish their memory with honor and pride.

I am, gentlemen, but an humble citizen—in fact, only a prisoner of war on parole—and must be content with only looking at the changes that are now taking place in our land, and my voice must restrain itself until such time as when we will once more enjoy those rights and privileges as of yore. Again, gentlemen, allow me to thank you, for the honor you have paid me, which, I assure you, is duly appreciated.

EFFECTS OF IMPRISONMENT.—The Richmond papers announce that Dick Turner was on Monday released on parole from confinement by order of the Secretary of War. He was arrested a few days after the surrender of General Lee, and has been from that day to this in rigid confinement, first at the penitentiary and then at the Libby, having been incarcerated for fourteen months without a trial. It is said that he has suffered much from confinement, and that during his imprisonment his hair has turned from black to gray.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Only seven millions of dollars were appropriated by the Senate, today, for the Freedmen's Bureau. Over a million was for the single item of clothing. A well-known Radical who has a cotton plantation on lease near Savannah reached here to-day. On hearing of this appropriation he remarked that the Freedmen's Bureau was a humbug and a swindle, and that he was succeeding magnificently with his plantation, because he refused to have anything to do with the swindle.

Provisional Governor Hamilton, of Texas, disappointed in his political aspirations, is about to leave that State for the North. The Houston Daily Telegraph sincerely trusts "that his absence may not be damaging to the interests of the State," as the journal is "perfectly certain that his presence has never been of any benefit to it."

Napoleon is said to be very anxious to relieve Lamartine from his pecuniary difficulties. He has offered to assume Lamartine's liabilities, amounting to 3,000,000 francs, and to pension him with 40,000 francs annually for life. But Lamartine must abandon to the State his copyrights, estates, and personal property, and it is doubtful if he accepts the imperial offer.

REMARKS OF
N. A. McLEAN, OF ROBESON.

In Convention, on the ordinance of amnesty and general pardon to all persons violating the criminal laws of North Carolina, except in certain cases.

MR. PRESIDENT:—I desire to occupy the time of the Convention for a few moments only. I feel it to be my duty to assign my reasons for the vote I expect to cast. I cannot vote for the ordinance introduced by the honorable gentleman from Burke, (Mr. Caldwell,) granting "a general amnesty and pardon to all persons guilty of violating the criminal laws of North Carlina, except to those guilty of capital felonies," or offenses committed against women and children, for any offense committed prior to first day of January, 1866, &c., &c. Now, sir, I am disposed to exercise as much charity toward mankind as any one. Yet charity begins at home. The conduct of evil disposed persons in the county which I have the honor in part to represent precludes at once the possibility of my supporting an ordinance intended to let them go without day, and virtually to invite them to renew their attacks upon the property of our citizens, again producing a reign of terror such as we have already passed through.

We have, as many delegates on this floor may know, in our county, a population known as free negroes or "mulattoes." These, with low white men, toward the close of the war practised a regular system of robbery and pillage, going in armed bands in the dead hours of night, in strong force, entering dwelling houses, threatening the lives of our citizens, and carrying away by violence clothing, money, jewelry, provisions and what they wanted—visiting, at times, the defenseless home of the absent soldier's wife, robbing her of her last pound of bacon, and of the last blanket. Ah! in some instances, robbing her small children of the scanty clothing with which they were provided. Why, sir, in the town in which I live, our citizens were obliged to be on guard each night for many weeks in succession. So bold were the depredators, that they boldly threatened an attack on the town; and now, sir, we are graciously asked to say to these desperadoes: "You have done nothing wrong. What though you have kept us in peril by day and especially by night,—what though you have left us without provisions,—what though you have robbed and terrified defenseless women and children! Be of good cheer, the Convention of North Carolina says, by its ordinance, you are freely pardon d. There is no need of any evidence of penitence,—no, not even a promise of reformation; you are freely pardoned, because the Convention says so."

Fortunately for our section of country, the doors of our civil Courts were once more thrown open. The less wary, and I believe the weak dupes of the ring leaders, happened to fall into the hands of the Solicitor for our District.—After he had them convicted in due form of law, they were turned over to the presiding Judge, who passed the sentence. They were then turned over to the tender mercies of the Sheriff, who usually compromised the whole affair—simply, by administering to them 39 lashes. Now, why make flesh of the less guilty, who have been caught, and make fish of the greater villians who have evaded the law? Am I to return to my home and proclaim to these desperadoes, that they are free from the law?—This ordinance, sir, would indicate as much.

The amendment offered by the honorable delegate from Granville, (Judge Gilliam,) is not so objectionable to my mind. It contains provisions eminently just and proper. Yet, under all the circumstances, I am not in favor even of its adoption. I wish no restraints or restrictions laid upon our people, whereby they may be restrained or prohibited from dealing out strict justice to those who took advantage of their condition and inflicted upon them all manner of injuries. Now that the war is closed, I think that a general pardon should be extended to soldiers who committed indictable offenses, whilst carrying out strictly military orders from their superiors in command, but God forbid that I should inflict upon my people the "free pardon and amnesty" of organized bands of desperadoes and robbers!

The county which I represent borders on the South Carolina line. Many of these free booters have "crossed the line." If they can remain there, why let them remain. Should any of them return to our State, then I desire them to catch it, and catch it well.

We note a paragraph going the rounds about 'an ovarian tumor, weighing seventy-five pounds, taken from a lady in Danbury, Connecticut, last week.' We should be pleased to see the surgeon, to know whether he thinks he took the tumor from the woman, or the woman from the tumor.

Boot-licking Radicals in Congress vie with each other who shall help in feeble old Stevens to his seat. One offers an arm, another takes his hat, a third holds up his coat-tail, and old Thad., the stage father, says "Bless ye, my children; bless ye."

Elias Howe, Jr., says that he shall not apply for an extension of his sewing-machine patent, which expires this year, as he has already made a million and a half dollars on it, and thinks that is enough.

THE MISSOURI TEST OATH.—About seventy-five preachers in Missouri, who have refused to take the oath as required by the new Constitution, have been arrested and lodged in jail.—On Friday Rev. Mr. Dean was thrown into jail at Independence. Mr. Dean was a major during the war in the Federal army.

General Ely, of the Freedmen's Bureau in South Carolina, against whom charges were preferred by Generals Steedman and Fullerton, has avoided arrest and trial by court martial by resigning his office and retiring from the service.

No Englishman in Canada is now allowed to wear green spectacles. On account of the fiery color of the national nose, such an act amounts to "hoisting the green above the red."

Memphis is excited by a rumour that John H. Surrat was recently in that city, on his way from Northern Texas to Missouri.

Mr. Grinnell has come to the conclusion that if speech is silver, silence, sometimes, is golden.

MR. DAVIS'S DISAPPOINTMENT.—I am assured that Mr. Davis now inclines to the belief that he will be kept here, which is a great retrograde from the brilliant prospects that have seemed so assuredly to await him. His counsel and the numerous friends that have called on him have been extremely sanguine on the subject of his early release, and their united avowals to this end have incited in him premature and false hopes, which it no doubt would have been far better to have avoided. But I think he will survive all this and whatever may betide him in the future. When he ceases to be calm, resolute and defiant of fate, he will cease to be Jefferson Davis.—Fortress Monroe Correspondence New York Herald.

WASHINGTON, June 22.

The President sent in to Congress to-day the following message in relation to the reconstruction amendment:

"To the Senate and

House of Representatives:

I submit to Congress a report of the Secretary of State, to whom was referred the concurrent resolutions of the 18th. inst., respecting a submission to the Legislatures of the States of an additional article to the Constitution of the United States. It will be seen, from the report, that the Secretary of State had, on the 16th. inst., transmitted to the Governors of the several States certified copies of the joint resolution passed on the 13th. inst., proposing an amendment to the Constitution. Even in ordinary times, any question of amending the Constitution must be justly regarded of paramount importance. This importance is at the present time enhanced by the fact that the joint resolution was not submitted by the two Houses for the approval of the President, and that, of the thirty-six States which constitute the Union, eleven are excluded from representation in either House of Congress, although, with the single exception of the State of Texas, they have been entirely restored to all their functions as States, in conformity with the law of the land, and have appeared at the National Capitol by their Senators and Representatives, who have applied for and have been refused admission to the vacant seats.

Nor have the sovereign people of the Nation been afforded an opportunity of expressing their views upon the important question which the amendment involves. Grave doubts may, therefore, naturally and justly arise as to whether the action of Congress is in harmony with the sentiments of the people, and whether State Legislatures, elected without reference to such an issue, should be called upon by Congress to decide respecting the ratification of the proposed amendment.

Waiving the question as to the Constitutional validity of the proceedings of Congress upon the joint resolution proposing the amendment, or as to the merits of the article which it submits through the Executive Department to the Legislatures of the States, I deem it proper to observe that the steps taken by the Secretary of State, as detailed in the accompanying report, are to be considered as purely ministerial, and in no sense whatever committing the Executive to an approval or a recommendation of the amendment either to the State Legislatures or the people. On the contrary, a proper appreciation of the letter and spirit of the Constitution, as well as the interest of national harmony, order and Union, and due respect for an enlightened public judgment, may at this time well suggest whether any amendment to the Constitution ought to be proposed by Congress and pressed upon the Legislatures of the several States for final decision, until after the admission of such loyal Senators and Representatives of the now unrepresented States as have been, or may hereafter be, chosen in conformity with the Constitution and laws of the United States.

(Signed) ANDREW JOHNSON.

Accompaning the message of the President is the report of the Secretary of State, announcing that he had, in conformity with the proceeding which had been adopted by him in 1865, in regard to the then proposed and afterwards adopted amendment concerning the prohibition of slavery, transmitted certified copies of the joint resolution to the Governors of the several States, together with a certificate and circular letter.

Have we a National Disease?

S. D. Wallace, Esq. President of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, [Aug. 30, 1865,] says: "It has been said that Dyspepsia is our national disease. However this may be, it caused me, long and severe suffering. Providentially a friend furnished me with a few boxes of the HEPATIC PILLS, and the use of them has perfected a cure. In my family they have been used frequently with eminent success. Among my acquaintances, many cases originating from diseased liver, have been relieved and cured by them. I regard them as an invaluable medicine, and take pleasure in forwarding this voluntary tribute."

For sale by the Druggists. Directions accompany each box. Sent to any part of the United States for $3 per dozen. Address,

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyse the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast supersecting all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the so called remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases. Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Scrofulous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparilla, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Do not discard this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used Ayer's—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agents below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and for a Dinner Pill.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

A BOON TO THE SICK AND THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD.
DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE.

These Life-giving remedies are now given publicly to the world. For over a quarter of a century of private practice the ingredients in these

LIFE-GIVING PILLS!

Have been used with the greatest success. Their mission is not only to prevent disease, but to cure. They search out the various maladies by which the patient is suffering, and re-invigorate the failing system. To the aged and infirm a few doses of these valuable PILLS will prove to be

A VERY FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH,

For in every case they add new life and vitality, and restore the waning energies to their pristine state.—To the young and middle-aged they will prove most invaluable, as a ready, specific and sterling medicine. Here is a dream realized, that Ponce-de-Leon sought for three hundred years ago, and never found. He looked for a fountain that would restore the old to vigor and make youth ever

An Eternal Spring!

It was left for this day and hour to realize the dream, and show in one glorious fact, that magic that made it fair.

THESE FAMOUS REMEDIES

Cannot stay the flight of years, but they can force back and hold aloof, diseases that might triumph over the aged and the young. Let none hesitate then, but seize the favorable opportunity the offers. When taken as prescribed—

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS

Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once; and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS.

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed dose to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

And all eruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil!

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS.

Invariably cure the following Diseases.

Asthma,
Bowel Complaints,
Coughs,
Colds,
Chest Diseases,
Costiveness,
Dyspepsia,
Diarrhœa,
Dropsy,
Debility,
Female Complaints, Fever and Ague
Headache,
Indigestion,
Influenza,
Inflammation,
Inward weakness,
Liver Complaint,
Lowness of Spirits,
Ringworm,
Rheumatism,
Salt Rheum,
Scalds,
Skin Diseases.

☞ Notice.—None genuine without the engraved trade mark around each pot or box, signed by DR. J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton st., New York, to counterfeit which is felony.

☞ Sold by all respectable Dealers in Medicines throughout the United States and Canadas—at 25 cents per box or pot.

A CARD.

Because of affliction and age which renders me incapable of continuing business, I now retire from the Book trade, leaving my entire stock and interest in the hands of Messrs. Branson and Farrer—except the publication of the "N. C. Almanac," which, I trust will be received with the same favor as heretofore.

In retiring, I return my sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage which the public has chosen to bestow upon me during the last half century—the length of time in which I have been engaged in the book trade in this State—and cheerfully recommend to my old friends and patrons, my successors, Messrs. Branson & Farrer, by whom, I am sure they will be satisfactorily accommodated.

Mr. H. D. Coley, so well known to the Book trade and to the public, and so long engaged in business with me will be retained as an assistant in business with Messrs. Branson & Farrer. He invites his old friends to call upon him.

COLUMBUS, GA.

WE have received the manufacture of Cotton Gins in this city, and will be prepared to fill orders by 1st June next. As we shall not be, as heretofore, represented by traveling agents, parties wishing our Gins, will confer a favor by sending in their orders at an early day. As owing to the demand, we shall be unable to keep a stock in the hands of our local agents, as it was our practice before the war. All business transactions being now reduced to cash, our sales will be made on the basis of ready pay.

Our Gins are too well known to require any special notice or commendation; we believe they are unrivalled in the chief points of excellence which go to make up a superior machine, namely: Speed light draught and good sample.

Our DOUBLE CYLINDER GINS will be found superior to the single cylinder, when parties have steam or good water power, to give them the necessary speed. In all cases where this can be done, we recommend them in preference to the single cylinder. If, however, indifferent or insufficient power is used, they will not do as well as the single Gin.
